To Whom It May Concern:

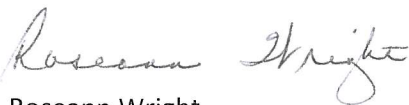

I'm writing this letter regarding this year's Cal CPA's Service Award and your consideration of Stephen Blythe for this recognition.

I've known Steve for over ten years as he is an alum of Ernst & Young and has been on the firm's Orange County Alumni Board for several years, where he made a significant contribution to its growth. He is the recipient of the 2004 Ernst & Young Entrepreneur Of The Year (EOY) Realizing Potential award in Orange County and participated on the 2009 EOY Orange County panel of judges, which was comprised of prominent business individuals in the community.

He is currently Chief Executive Officer of Blytheco, LLC and under his direction, the company has seen significant growth. In addition to running his successful company, he strongly believes in giving back to the community. As a pilot, he is involved with organizations such as Pacific Bonanza Airlifeline, Angelflight and Samaritans as well as Liga International. As a volunteer pilot and clinic worker, Steve identified opportunities to automate the monthly process of coordinating clinic volunteers, pilots and clinic coordinators.

Besides running a successful business and volunteering his time and talents to various charitable organizations, Steve is devoted to his wife and children and enjoys spending quality time with them. Thank you for your consideration of Stephen Blythe for this prestigious award.

Yours truly,
